Just Jazz

April 2014

Hi Friends —

NEWS FLASH: Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, New York, is offering a summer course called — seriously — “The Sociology of Miley Cyrus.” Apparently it will focus on the no-talent skank’s so-called “incarnations” as a means of studying gender, race, class, fame, and power.

Where do I begin? Well, try imagining this scene at a cocktail party. Four academics have just met and they begin a conversation. “So what do you teach?” The first: “Quantum Mechanics.” The second: “The Formulation of American Foreign Policy.” The third: “Jazz History.” The fourth: “The Sociology of Miley Cyrus,” which is followed by three simultaneous and abundant spit takes.

Look, I am for studying popular culture as much as anybody and more than most, but there has to be a better subject for the study of gender, race, class, fame, and power — like, say, Billie Holiday. But then the university where I teach offers the course, “Politicizing Beyoncé,” which uses her career and — umm — music “to explore American race, gender, and sexual politics.” It makes me proud.

Stay cool and keep list’nin’,
Bob

Now that that’s over, I want to announce that throughout April I will be celebrating the 115th birthday anniversary of Duke Ellington on all three of my radio shows. On Just Jazz Duke will be my first ever repeat “Artist of the Month,” and every week I’ll offer special “Just Jazz Presents...” hours dedicated to his music. On the Dance Floor will feature classic Ellington tracks, plus well known Ellington tunes performed by the big bands and popular singers of the past. And The Sinatra Hour will include Frank’s versions of Ellington standards, as well as tracks from the classic album he made backed by Duke’s band. Face it, radio just can’t get any better!

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

You know, Stan Kenton can stand in front of a thousand fiddles and a thousand brass and make a dramatic gesture, and every studio arranger can nod his head and say, “Oh, yes, that’s done like this.” But Duke merely lifts his finger, three horns make a sound, and I don’t know what it is!

— composer André Previn on “The Ellington Effect”

NEW & RECOMMENDED CDS

Band of Bones: Caravan \(BB Productions\): Band of Bones is a trombone lover’s dream made real by trombonist (and flutist) Dave Chamberlain. On their second release Chamberlain’s nine — yes, nine! — trombones plus rhythm offer a rich, diverse program of sonic delights. Singer Kat Gang appears on three tracks, two stellar guests — harmonica master Hendrik Muerkins and trombonist Steve Turre — join the band on one original tune each, and percussionist Chembo Corniel drives the Afro-Cuban classic, “Manteca.”

Lena Bloch: Feathery \(Thirteenth Note\): Often overlooked, much misunderstood, and unfairly maligned, the Lennie Tristano-Lee Konitz-Warne Marsh school of jazz improvisation is the foundation of, and celebrated by, this thought provoking release by tenor saxophonist Lena Bloch. Bloch, guitarist Dave Miller, bassist Cameron Brown, and drummer Billy Mintz craft intuitive group music that is both cerebral and moving, intellectual yet emotive.

The Heavyweights Brass Band: Brasstronomical \(Lulaworld\): Toronto’s Heavyweights Brass Band not only covers enough musical genres for three bands, it does it with originality, wit, and artistry. Their latest CD overflows with original tunes, and, as a bonus, these six accomplished players are joined on trombonist Christopher Butcher’s Afro-Cuban-based “Misterioso” by soprano saxophonist Jane Bunnett and conga drummer Giovanni Hidalgo.

Rufus Reid: Quiet Pride: The Elizabeth Catlett Project \(Motèma\): Long regarded as one of jazz’s finest bassists, Rufus Reid has composed a monumental five-movement suite inspired by the life and work of sculptor Elizabeth Catlett. Performed by a twenty-piece ensemble made up of some of the music’s most eminent players, Reid’s music, like Catlett’s sculptures, is monumental, powerful, and — pardon the expression — truly awesome.
