Hi Friends —

People in every corner of the globe know and revere the brilliance, the stunning eloquence of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s, iconic "I Have a Dream" speech, delivered on August 28, 1963 in Washington, D.C., at the historic March for Jobs and Freedom.

But far fewer know how the renowned gospel singer, Mahalia Jackson, played a largely unheralded role in its creation. Prior to the speech Jackson captivated the crowd with her heart-felt spirituals. Then, standing off to the side, listening to King, she apparently felt that his prepared address — the text of which did not include the phrase, "I have a dream" — was not going over as well as it should.

So recalling something she had heard him say a couple months earlier, Jackson called out, "Tell them about the dream, Martin! Tell them about the dream!" And then King began to ad lib, uttering those immortal lines that lifted that day's speech into the ranks of the most inspired pieces of political oratory in American history.

King's "I Have a Dream" speech was one of the landmark moments of the twentieth century. And it was a musical artist who inspired that moment, a moment improvised in the spirit of, the essence of, jazz.

Stay cool, keep list'nin' — and let's, at long last, realize the dream, Bob

To all my musician friends: I want to pull your coats to a terrific new book by Michael Medrick, Slide Hampton Plays Tadd Dameron. Michael has transcribed, and provides detailed analysis of, Hampton's solos on six of Dameron's best known compositions. Now if you think this book is for trombonists only, wake up! This book is for anyone who wants to get inside the mind and soul of a brilliant jazz improviser. No matter what instrument you play, if you can't learn from Slide Hampton, you can't learn anything. A website currently is in the works, but this book now can be ordered by email at: jazzbonedawg@yahoo.com.

Just Jazz is heard every Sunday from 10:00 p.m. to 3:00 a.m. Eastern Time (US) over 91.9 WNTI-FM and streams live at wnti.org. Just Jazz Presents with Bob Bernotas is heard every Saturday at 9:00 a.m. & 9:00 p.m., Tuesday at 11:00 p.m., and Wednesday at 3:00 a.m., 9:00 a.m., and 6:00 p.m. Eastern Time (US) on the Internet at Pure Jazz Radio.

QUOTE OF THE MONTH

In our glorious fight for civil rights, we must guard against being fooled by false slogans, such as "right to work." It is a law to rob us of our civil rights and job rights. Its purpose is to destroy labor unions and the freedom of collective bargaining by which unions have improved wages and working conditions of everyone. ... Wherever these laws have been passed, wages are lower, job opportunities are fewer and there are no civil rights. ... We demand this fraud be stopped.

NEW & RECOMMENDED CDS

Maucha Adnet & Helio Alves: Milagre (Zoho): Just voice and piano, and a little percussion — that's all you need when the performers are these two gifted artists from Brazil, singer Maucha Adnet and pianist Helio Alves. Their interaction and interplay are a constant pleasure, as Adnet and Alves explore an impeccably crafted program of tunes by the cream of their nation's songwriters, including Gil, Horta, Santos, and, of course, Tom Jobim.

Alan Ferber: March Sublime (Sunnyside): It will be a very long time before you hear a big band recording as electrifying and breathtaking as this new release from trombonist-composer-arranger Alan Ferber. Ferber's writing is dense, but never overgrown, lively, but never busy, advanced, but never inaccessible, and a roster of superb soloists — Ferber included — fills the spaces in, around, and between his multilayered, multicolored ensemble passages.

The Planet D Nonet featuring Michael Ray: Rays of the Sun (Eastlawn): In the seventy-nine years he spent on this planet, intergalactic traveler Sun Ra gifted us with some of the most mind-blowing, mind-expanding sounds ever heard. The Detroit-based Planet D Nonet, joined here by Michael Ray, former trumpeter with Sun Ra's Arkestra, has crafted this joyful tribute with five of Sun Ra's cosmic compositions, plus two by his longtime bassist, Ronnie Boykins. Here's proof that until he returns from his native Saturn, Sun Ra's music is in very good hands.

Janis Siegel: Nightsongs (Palmetto): This solo outing by Manhattan Transfer stalwart, Janis Siegel, is brimming with surprises and delights. Highlights include Siegel's funky take on "You're Mine, You" (fueled by the formidable tenor saxophone of Joel Frahm), her samba-tinged "Lover," her masterful reading of Johnny Mercer's wondrous "Midnight Sun" lyric (backed by the lush trumpet of Dominick Farinacci), and throughout, the accompaniment and solo work of pianist John di Martino and the solid bass support of Christian McBride and Martin Wind.
