Just Jazz

December 2012

Hi Friends —

It was some years ago, only a week or so before Christmas, I had gotten back to Brooklyn on the Monday afternoon after doing my weekly radio show — I had a 1:00-6:00 a.m. slot at that time — having caught barely a three-hour snooze before the nearly two-hour drive. I parked my car, got out, and as I started walking to my apartment building I heard someone singing, loudly and to the tune of that detestable Christmas ditty, “Jingle Bell Rock”:

*Giddy-up, Donald Trump, get on your horse.

“Did I really hear that?” I asked myself. “I can’t be that sleepy,” I thought. Then I heard it again:

*Giddy-up, Donald Trump, get on your horse.

And then again. Finally I spied the singer, who clearly was a few reindeer short of a sleigh. And I heard him sing it again — and again and again and again, maybe ten or twelve more times, until either he or I was, at long last, out of range.

Yes, friends, as a much better holiday song reminds us, “It’s Christmas Time in the city. “ My city. New York City.

Keep list’nin’ and have a Cool Yule,
Bob

And don’t miss my annual “Just Jazz Cool Yule Special” on Sunday, December 23 — five hours of holiday music by the greats of jazz. Then the following Sunday, December 30, it’s my “The Year in Jazz (Just Jazz, that is) Special.”
